Chad Kelly Selected As Century III Winner at G.H.S.

Chad Kelly has won the Century III Leaders' scholarship competition at Grayling High School, according to Kent Reynolds, principal.

The local contest at Grayling High School is part of the nationwide competition for $116,500 in scholarships at the state and national level. The Century III Leaders scholarship program is administered by the National Association of Secondary School Principals and funded by Shell Oil Company.

Run-up in the competition is Louis Madill. Members of the local selection committee were Al Schreiner, Lynn Serra, Paul Lerg and Jane Hart.

Graduating seniors entries were judged on the basis of their leadership potential with emphasis on community and extra-curricular activities, high scores on a current events exam, and on their writing viewpoints about America's needs and challenges for the future.

Chad now competes with other high school winners from around the state for two $1,000 scholarships and an opportunity for the $10,000 top national scholarship.

The two Michigan winners will receive an all expense paid trip to the second annual Century III Leaders Meeting in Colonial Williamsburg, Va., in March 1977, to participate in seminars on current issues.

Conserve Heat, Energy

by Merrill Baldwin, Extension Home Economist
You've heard about the fuel crisis.

How hard about ways you, the homeowner, can help conserve heat, reduce energy use and make your home more comfortable for winter living.

Unless it is well insulated, any home spills a lot of heat into the great outdoors. If you are planning to build a home, spend the extra $200 to $400 for adequate insulation. It will pay for itself in two or three cold winters.

In addition to insulation in walls and ceilings, use storm windows, weather stripping and blinds or drapes to cut heat loss around windows and doors. Storm windows are a substantial investment, but an economical temporary substitute is readily available in the form of cardboard stripping and sheet plastic. Folded over the stripping and tacked to a window frame, plastic creates an insulating dead air space.

Blinds or heavy drapes serve the same function inside and help block the flow of cold air off a window.

When cold air is flowing in around a door or window, you can be sure there is an equal flow of warm air going out. Permanent weather stripping around all doors can cut down this costly leak. Even a temporary measure such as [See Energy on page 9]

ROOC Handicap Workshop Receives High Evaluation

The St. Helen ROOC Workshop for mentally and physically handicapped persons did very well in a recent state evaluation.

The workshop was determined to have achieved 97 percent compliance with the state standards. The evaluation was made by a team from the Michigan Mental Health Department in May and June.

ROOC was evaluated because it is an affiliate of the North Central Michigan Mental Health Services. The mental health agency contracts with ROOC for services. The agency is responsible for serving mentally handicapped persons 26 and over.

Roger VanderSchie, director, North Central Michigan Mental Health Services, said that under the Mental Health Code the agency could provide the services directly or contract with an existing community agency such as ROOC.

Fifteen of the persons served by ROOC are clients of the mental health agency. VanderSchie said that in the past year the cost was $20,000. It is projected for the coming year at $43,000 because of increasing expenses and efforts to meet some additional state requirements, he said.

VanderSchie explained the agency pays ROOC on a per client per day basis.

This is the first year that ROOC under the direction of Larry Meier, was evaluated by the Department of Mental Health. Meier, Richard Mc- [See Workshop on page 9]

GRAYLING, MICHIGAN — THURSDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1976

From Our Corner...

Leftovers from Thanksgiving ...
Thanksgiving Day in our house was a replica of last year's ... thankful — when you read anything from this corner it is strictly one's thoughts, mine.

With that in mind, we will continue, from now on we will call it Thursday, not Thanksgiving Day, only because we were informed on that day at about 12:30 p.m. it would be nice if we would show our presence at least for a cup of coffee in the kitchen, while I prepare your dinner.

We managed to make it after a couple of limp excuses that we really are not a chef and thought we would only be in the way, with our presence.

But then, the sky opened up with its silver lining and all the thubarb was forgotten as T.J. arrived with her mom and dad (and puppy) to again rule over our kingdom during the long holiday weekend.

Our Thursday was complete when as last year a phone call from Dane in California informed us he also was enjoying dinner with friends — and was not alone. We really rested (ask the boss) and we're thankful!

Pre-Christmas thoughts — we were in Mt. Pleasant Monday with Section B of this issue — the city was ablaze with Christmas decorations ...

It was refreshing to learn Tuesday morning that the Council voted to bag the meters through the holiday season.

A new business is moving into our town, and the reason we mention it in our corner is the fact we have known the owner some 40 years (we don't know if he wants to admit it).

Lem Noilrot, president of Glen Electric and Furniture of Gaylord is opening a store in the former Wegner Hardware building on M-72 East, we've talked on the phone, and look forward to sitting down one day for a little reminiscing.

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

Confession of a Saint

Last week we studied the fact that saints do sin. We were reminded that, "If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us." I John 1:8. For one to claim he has no sin to confess, he must assume he understands everything the Bible teaches, and obeys it perfectly at all times. Only Jesus Christ could prove such perfect knowledge and practice.

The answer to the knowledge of a saint is confession. "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." I John 1:9. According to the original Greek the tense could better be translated, "If we keep on confessing our sins," he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins." The word "confess" in the original means to see our sins as God sees them. We can be assured we have confessed our sins when we realize that our sins nailed Jesus Christ to the cross; when we hate and detest our sins; and when we have forsaken the continual practice of them. It is absurd for one to think he has confessed a particular sin before God, if he is still practicing it.

Confession must involve individual sins. We must name each individual sin before God asking His forgiveness. We must confess our sins to God through Jesus Christ, and "For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; Who gave himself a ransom for all..." I Timothy 2:5,6. Private sins of thought, word or deed which involve no other person, need be confessed only to God in private.

If you have wronged another person or persons, after seeking God's forgiveness you should seek the forgiveness of those involved. If you have wronged one person ask only the forgiveness of one person. If you have sinned against a family, ask their forgiveness. If you have sinned publicly, seek public forgiveness through your local church. If restitution is required, restitution should be made.

It is a serious thing for a saint to deny his sins. "If we say that we have not sinned, we make him a liar, and his word is not in us." I John 1:10. When a saint denies his sins, he makes God a liar. God says all men are sinners before Him. God's Word on this subject is not in him. By personal pronouns, the great apostle John included himself in this word. One proves he is a Christian and God's Word dwells within him as he continues to confess his sins. The entire context of I John chapter one deals with Christian fellowship and joy. A saint can only know the greatest joy and closest fellowship with God and others who learn to confess and forsake his sins. (adv.)

Priests Elect New Officers

The Executive Committee of the Gaylord Presbyterial Council of Priests elected three new officers at a recent meeting held in Gaylord. The priests holding office are Father Edwin J. Frederic, President. Father is chaplain at the Traverse City State Hospital. Vice-President is Father Joseph Wiekierak, pastor at St. Stephen's in Lake City. Father John Tupper, pastor of St. James in Whittemore, was elected as Secretary-Treasurer.

The Executive Committee, composed of 7 Vicars of the Diocese and 3 priests at large, meets to formulate the agenda for the quarterly meetings of all the priests of the Diocese.

The Presbyterial Council, of which the Executive Committee is a part, is composed of the 75 priests of the Diocese. Unlike a Priest Senate where an elected representative group meet, each Gaylord Diocesan priest has input regarding the local Church.

Those members who complete the Executive Committee are: Bishop Edmund C. Szoka; Father John Adomaitis, Cheboygan; Father Gerald Dvorak, O.F.M., Harbor Springs; Father Ralph Kelly, Elk Rapids; Father Thomas Neis, Grayling; Father Raymond Pilarski, Alpena; Father Dennis Stilwell, Gaylord and Father Edwin Thome, Cadillac.

Snow Emergencies Could Close Freeways

LANSING—In an attempt to reduce the number of motorists stranded on freeways by heavy snowstorms, the Michigan State Police and the Department of State Highways and Transportation have developed a joint plan to close freeways in advance of areas clogged by snow and stranded vehicles.

In recent years, once or twice a winter, hundreds of motorists have been stranded for up to two and three days when heavy and drifting snow has halted vehicles on freeways. The stranded and often abandoned vehicles have made snow-clearing impossible at times.

Under provisions of a new plan to be implemented for the first time this winter, State Police and the State Highways and Transportation Department will set up roadblocks to close freeways whenever a storm makes driving extremely hazardous or impossible.

Roadblocks will be established at points determined to be outside the perimeter of the storm. Although vehicles in the storm area already will have been halted by the storm, the roadblocks will prevent additional vehicles from entering the critical area.

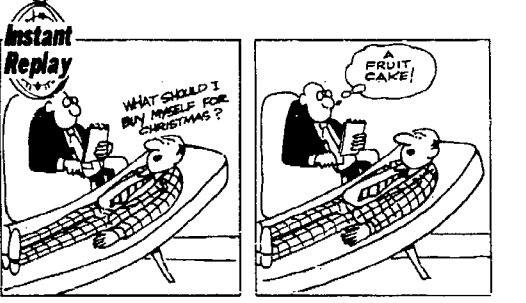

"In addition to actual closures, the plan calls for an extensive communications system to aid in rescuing stranded motorists, to aid in snow-clearing operations and also to advise motorists well in advance that the freeway is closed ahead."

Motorists headed towards a freeway closure will be advised to leave the freeway and to find shelter. Whenever possible, freeway closures will be established at or near freeway exits where emergency shelters have been designated in advance, as part of the new plan.

Still in the planning stage, shelters are being designated by local agencies such as the Red Cross and Civil Defense. Most designated shelters probably will be schools, churches and civic centers.

Most of the new emergency plan concerns cooperative and coordinated operations involving the State Police, State Highways and Transportation Department, county road commissions, the Red Cross and Civil Defense.

"The primary objective of this entire plan is to reduce the number of persons and vehicles stranded by a snow storm, and to rescue those already stranded," said Col. George L. Halverson, State Police Director.

Germans Use Real Candles On Christmas Trees

by Willard Bossertman
County Extension Director

When my son Bob was in Germany three years ago his host family lit their Christmas trees with real honest to goodness candles. They did not leave them lit long, however, and someone was in the room at all times.

Very few Americans today would risk lighting their Christmas trees with candles. But using faulty strings of lights or keeping trees indoors until they are tinder-dry might be just as dangerous.

The old strings of lights should be replaced if they have any loose connections, cracked and hardened insulation or bare wires. Loose connections, and bare wires, particularly can cause electrical sparks and start a fire.

A good Christmas present for the family would be a smoke detector. It would be a good idea to place it near the Christmas tree during the time that the tree is up. After Christmas the smoke detector should be mounted near a bedroom so the sleeping occupants can hear it when it goes off.

Christmas trees with brittle or dry needles should be removed from the home. It takes only seconds for a stray spark to set a dry tree ablaze.

If you use evergreen boughs to decorate the inside of your home, make sure the boughs are fresh. They are less likely to start a fire. You can cut them freshly from your own trees or shrubbery. Your spruce and yew landscaping plants can be used for greenery around the home. Now, before they are completely covered with snow, would be a good time to do some of that landscape pruning. I know husbands will be thrilled with the idea of getting out of the house for a few minutes. Have a Merry Christmas, Ya hear!

Fine Trade

A couple of old friends ran into each other on a city street and began discussing the cute little dog one gent was taking for a walk. "Oh, what a cute little pup," commented the first. "I got it for my wife," beamed the other. "How'd you ever manage a fine trade like that?" was the incredulous reply.

parish to which he is assigned. He also assists at Mass, preaches and presides at various sacraments.

In addition to parish ministry, a deacon is expected to become familiar with the work and life-style of a priest in his diocese, and along with his supervisor, to attend a series of theological reflection workshops geared to specific interests and needs.

Upon completion of the internship period, a deacon may petition his bishop for ordination to the priesthood. The deacon internship program at St. John's is headed by Fr. Louis Anderson, assisted by the deacon directors from each Michigan diocese.

Deacon workshops for the coming year will include such topics as relational skills, the teaching and preaching ministry, sacramental ministry and the life of prayer.

CAPITOL CAPSULES

Rep. Ralph Ostling
Full Week: In spite of an abbreviated week due to Thanksgiving, the legislature last week managed to consider several important items, including the big Public Health Code revision and a comprehensive state transportation package.

Consumer Protection: After 11 months of deadlock, the House and Senate have again taken up Senate Bill 1, the comprehensive consumer protection bill. A last-minute compromise took out references to price-fixing and anti-trust conspiracies.

Education Equality: Both houses have now approved HB 5791, which lets public school employees retire at age 55 with reduced benefits after 15 years of service, or full benefits after 30 years. State employees now have this option.

Hunting Dates: December 1 is the re-starting date for archery deer season, and for put-take pheasant, and ruffed grouse hunting in most areas. There will be a limited muzzle-loader deer season December 3-12; many hunters plan to dress in buckskins as they set out with their black powder, round ball and long-barreled "frontier" gun.

Helmet Hearing - Next Monday, December 6, there will be a hearing in the House chambers on HB 6462, which would repeal the state mandatory motorcycle helmet law. Several other states have repealed such laws since Congress removed federal requirements for same.

Tax Benefits: Michigan's property tax relief program provides greater benefits to more participants than any other similar program, according to a recent federal study. This is reported by the Governor's Advisory Task Force on Property Tax Revision, which will soon recommend some comprehensive changes to improve our property tax system.

Hold the Salt: Due to a 13% increase in the cost of salt, and increasing environmental concerns, the state highway department will use less de-icing salt on Michigan's highways this winter.

This will be particularly true on some of our less-travelled roads.

Reigning Cats: The House recently defeated HB 5928, which would permit counties to enact cat regulation ordinances, much as dogs are now controlled. Opposition centered on arguments that cat ordinances would be difficult to enforce.

Bird List: If you're going out for some bird-watching this holiday season, you might want to ask for a free pocket-size checklist with names of all bird species seen in Michigan since 1965. Write DNR Wildlife Division, Box 30028, Lansing, Mi. 48909.

Dear Whitey,

The undersigned wishes the Winter Sports Park nothing but the best in all their endeavors but I was somewhat taken aback to learn that the powers that be had purchased cross country skis from Gaylord when there are at least four places in Grayling that handle them.

There is no doubt in my mind that these places have been approached to support the winter sports and have given such support and I for one hope that in the future the support will go both ways.

Sincerely,

4th Grade Thanksgiving Feast

The annual Fourth Grade Thanksgiving Feast was celebrated on the last Wednesday of school before the holiday recess. The program began at 12:30 when the entire fourth grade sat down to their turkey dinner. In addition to the hot lunch meal prepared by the cooks, pumpkin pie and cornbread was furnished by mothers. Grace was said before dinner by four members of the classes.

Following the feast a program was presented, starting with Indian songs by the Indians and "A Thanksgiving Hymn" and "America the Beautiful" by the Pilgrims, under the direction of music teacher, Mrs. Emerich.

Members of Mrs. Akers', Mrs. Smith's and Mrs. Bovee's classes were Pilgrims and presented their part of the program followed by the Indians of Mr. Hayes' and Mr. Brigham's classes.

The afternoon ended with bartering at the trading post. We're grateful to all the mothers who furnished pumpkin pie and cornbread and to those mothers who came and helped serve.

Energy

shutting a door or window on a rolled up newspaper can cut heat loss by one-half.

A fireplace is a good warmer-upper on these chilly nights, but don't forget to close the damper when there's no fire in the grate. The same chimney that lets smoke billow away is also an escape route for warm air you have paid your hard-earned pennies to heat.

If your home feels cold in spite of a thermostat that insists it's 72, try moving the furniture so that chairs and sofas you most often use are not near windows or outside walls.

You might also use a humidifier, a tea kettle on the stove or a container of water near a room's heat source to add a bit of moisture to the dry winter air. A home that's too dry feels colder than one with the same temperature and the proper humidity level.

Workshop

Enaney, special education director, COOR Intermediate School District, and VanderSchie are pleased with the results.

VanderSchie said that the ROOC was one of eight areas involved in a field test of the standards for Community Mental Health.

"ROOC probably scored the highest in field tests that took place," said VanderSchie. The mental health agency has contracted with ROOC since 1973. The workshop now serves 60 persons on a full year equated basis.

VanderSchie said that this year was the first time the state had moved out to evaluate any community programs and affiliates. The evaluation included review of program administration, personnel management, staff development system, inter-agency coordination and service delivery.

It was noted that ROOC had received 100 percent on program compliance.

The preliminary evaluation report made note of the facilities at St. Helen and said that a move to a proposed building at Pioneer Hill "should alleviate most of the current problems".

Generally the compliance of ROOC to the standards was found to be very good with minimal deficiencies.

VanderSchie spoke of full compliance as an indication that service to an individual patient was better with increased benefits.

Meier said that last year the workshop placed 25 persons in the community working full time with training received at the workshop.

The workshop is serving as a model with persons from other communities and agencies coming to visit the St. Helen facility and learn more about the program.

The ROOC Workshop, administered by the COOR Intermediate School District, serves Roscommon, Crawford, Ogemaw and Oscoda counties.

Chamber Notes

We want you to get involved, we need you!!
At noon on Thursday, November 18th, the Board of Directors of the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce met at the Chief Shoppemagon's Hotel.

At that meeting it was unanimously decided that each person interested in the promotion and development of Crawford County be encouraged to take a personal part in their Chamber of Commerce.

To promote that interest, the following new policy has been adopted. An associate membership has been established for $15.00 a year for each private citizen who wishes to join, effective immediately.

For those service clubs and other organizations who wish to know more about the functions of your Chamber of Commerce, chamber director Dorothy R. Stockbridge will give a short talk at your regular meetings. For scheduling, call the chamber office. This service will start after January 1st.

With the serious implications of the energy shortage, it is more important than ever that Grayling and Crawford County, including Frederic, Lovells and all out-lying areas in the county focus attention on this region as a desirable place to vacation and live. To that end a concentrated public relations campaign is being put into motion. It takes funds and volunteer help to make this plan work. We have printing expenses, phone bills, office rent, staff salaries and numerous costs common to most businesses. Ours is not an office where we idly sit by and wait for the phone to ring. When you hear news of Grayling downstate and elsewhere, you are seeing the results of your Chamber of Commerce's efforts.

If you are past members of the chamber, or simply have forgotten to renew your membership this year, please do so. We want you to be listed in the more than 60,000 brochures that are distributed throughout the state, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Ohio. Join now, please!! Our office number is 348-3336. If you need brochures, stop by or call.

1977 Night of Lights Regatta Planned for Friday, July 29

(By George Pamerleau)

At a recent meeting of the Mill-Town Night of Lights Regatta Committee, Friday, July 29th was established as the date for this second annual event.

The date is being announced at this time in order to allow other Grayling Mill-Town Festival events to also be scheduled without conflicting with each other.

Starting at 9:00 p.m. (weather permitting) the flotilla of watercraft will proceed from the assembly area in the southwest bay of Lake Margrethe, counter clockwise around the shoreline past the judge's reviewing stand, which will be located offshore of Highway M-72, West of Danish Landing.

The flotilla will continue around the shoreline of Eagle Point, past McIntyre's Landing and the Inlet to Harbor Beach and disperse after passing the state campground site near Portage Creek.

This course will provide the maximum viewing advantages for the hundreds of interested spectators expected to witness this event.

Decorations of watercraft participating in the regatta will again be left open to the unlimited imagination of the persons involved. The committee members hope that persons planning to participate utilize the maximum amount of vari-colored lights as part of the decorations in order to provide the most impressive sight possible.

Fred Bear Announces North Michigan M.S. Read-a-Thon

GRAYLING — Fred Bear, President of Bear Archery and nationally renowned bowhunter and conservationist announced today the upcoming month long Read-a-Thon being conducted by the Northern Michigan Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

According to Bear, Honorary Chairman of the event, this is the first time that the Read-a-Thon has been conducted in this area although it has proven to be a highly successful national program to motivate children to read while at the same time raise money to aid in research on Multiple Sclerosis, the disease of young adults.

Eight Counties will be covered in the area Read-a-Thon: Crawford, Roscommon, Ogemaw, Alcona, Oscoda, Kalkaska, Antrim and Leelanau. It is estimated that approximately 12,000 area students, grades 1 through 8, will be eligible to participate. School assemblies are held explaining the Read-a-Thon to teachers and students and then the students take over and obtain sponsors to donate funds based upon their reading achievements in a 4 week period. The sponsor usually agrees to donate .50c or $1.00 for each book read. Of each $1.00 raised .60c remains in the area to be used on orthopedic equipment and counseling for M.S. patients, while .40c goes to National Multiple Sclerosis Research.

An M.S. Read-a-Thon is a unique event, designed to support the principal educational objective: the improvement of reading skills and an increased appreciation for the value of reading by elementary and intermediate school children. According to one national source half the population of this country has never read a book at all, and a little more than 10% of the people read 80% of the books.

In several counties in this area the RIF Program (Reading Is Fundamental) will aid in conducting this Read-a-Thon. RIF is a non-profit National Organization of the Smithsonian Institute, Washington, D.C. whose purpose is to create a desire to read and to aid the 43% of all elementary school children who are in critical need of help with reading. Pete Ingvarsson of the local RIF Organization will serve as Chairman for Crawford and Roscommon Counties.

Rosemary Gregory - of Goodhart and Carolyn Fettig of Petoskey will conduct the Read-a-Thon in Leelanau and Antrim Counties. Both are M.S. patients.

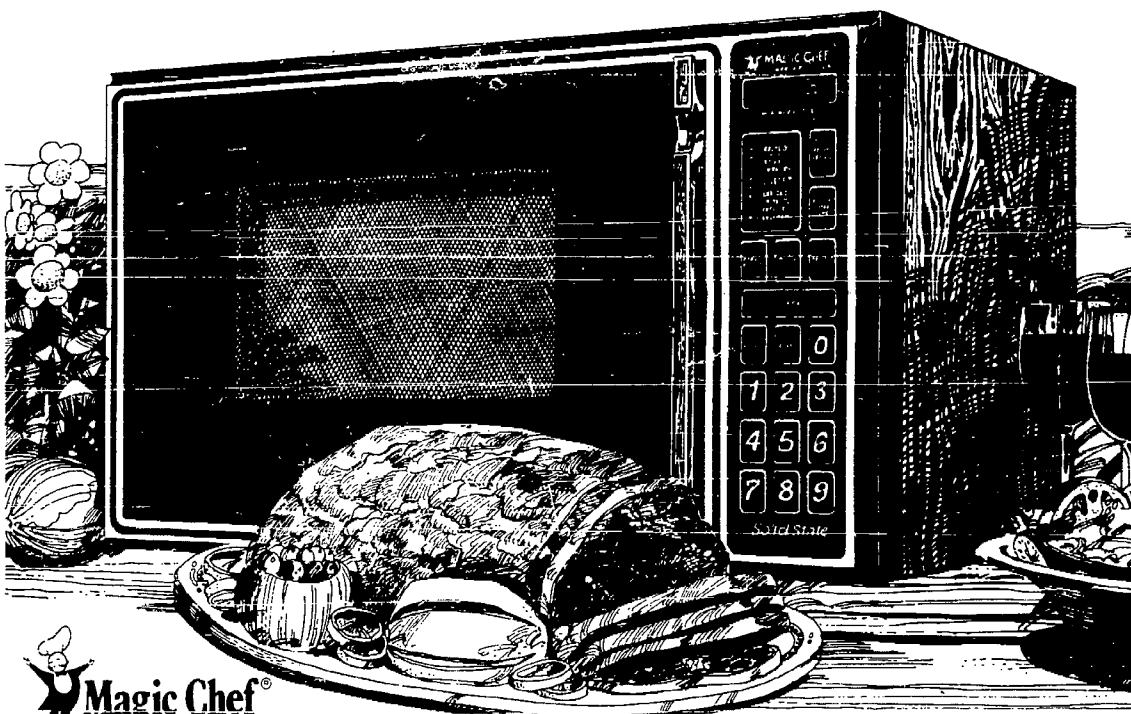

All students completing the program receive an official certificate and patch from the National Multiple Sclerosis Society and are eligible to win incentive prizes given through a random drawing. All participating schools will receive an official M.S. Read-a-Thon plaque.

Persons wanting to help in this eight county area are asked to call Pat Wiseman at 517-348-7572 for complete information.

County Veterans Receive $381,472

The Veterans in Crawford County, received a total of $381,472 from the U. S. Veterans Administration during the past fiscal year ending July 1. The tabulation was released by Frank J. Kilcullen, director of the regional office of the VA in Detroit.

Kilcullen said the largest amount of this was paid in disability compensation to service-disabled veterans, and in pensions to other older veterans whose income made them eligible for the payments. The compensation and pension payments amounted to $203,818 for Crawford County.

Educational and rehabilitation payments here totaled $157,054 for this period. These benefits go to veterans in college, high school, trade schools and on-the-job training programs.

Insurance and indemnity payments to veterans in this area amounted to $20,600.

For the state of Michigan, according to Kilcullen, the VA spent $606,641,081 for all benefits. This is $60 million more than 1975.

Statewide the VA spent $108,916,971 to operate its five hospitals. Construction at these facilities amounted to $2,201,130, and throughout the state the VA made $104,540 in direct home loans in areas where local financing was not available. Veterans attending some sort of educational institution or taking on-the-job training received $203,956,162. Compensation and pension payments did amount to $264,699,002 to Michigan veterans, Kilcullen said.

Freeway Motorists Get Weather Info

LANSING—Motorists traveling all interstate freeways in Michigan this winter can obtain up to the minute weather information on their car radios as the result of a cooperative program involving the Michigan Association of Broadcasters, the State Police and the Department of State Highways and Transportation.

The Highways and Transportation Department has completed erection of 35 large blue and white signs headed by the legend: "Weather Info". Each sign will carry up to four frequencies of cooperating radio stations. Motorists can turn their car radio to one of the four frequencies and be assured of getting current weather information every 15 to 30 minutes during periods of severe weather.

State Police will feed information on driving conditions to radio stations involved in the new reporting service.

The service was inaugurated as a pilot program on three freeways last winter and has now been extended to all interstate freeways in Michigan. The Federal Highway Administration, which is encouraging freeway weather information signing, paid 90 per cent of the cost.

The Michigan Association of Broadcasters emphasized that "this is a service to the public and not an advertisement for radio stations — hence, call letters will not be shown."

Most radio stations participating in the service operate 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and have transmitting strength to cover up to 70 miles of the particular freeway.

"Weather Info" signs are now in place, intermittently, along I-75 from the Ohio border to the Canadian border at Sault Ste. Marie; I-94 across the southern part of the Lower Peninsula; I-96 from Muskegon to Detroit; I-196 from Benton Harbor to Grand Rapids; and I-69 from the Indiana border near Coldwater to near Lansing.

Black views are encouraging

Richard Millman

Listen! Is that the sound of a corner being turned? Could be.

Reference is had to the published reactions of at least two black leaders to the election of Jimmy Carter as President.

Blacks are taking credit for Carter's election, what with the overwhelming pro-Carter vote in black precincts — in the neighborhood of 95 percent in many cases.

With the closeness of the Carter victory margin, of course, almost anybody who voted for Mr. Carter, or who swayed others to vote for him, can properly take the credit for his triumph; so why not blacks, too.

By the same token, any event or mood that turned any voter away from Mr. Ford can just as properly be given credit for electing Mr. Carter. It was that kind of an election.

At any rate, encouraging to me were the reports from one of those TV interview shows with U.S. Rep. Andrew Young of Georgia, an early and constant Carter backer. Mr. Young claimed, as indicated above, that Mr. Carter owed his victory to black support.

When asked how blacks could be repaid for this support, Mr. Young replied:

"That debt is essentially the same debt he owes all American people..."

"One of the things about black people is that they are people, and they suffer the same problems and are concerned about the same things as a good many white people."

Maybe I'm guilty of selective hearing, but such an attitude sounds to me like a change, perhaps a subtle one, in how American society should treat the problems of race.

At about the same time, another prominent black — Benjamin L. Hooks, newly selected as executive director of the NAACP — said about the same thing over another TV interview show.

"What we primarily expect from Mr. Carter is to be the president of all the people." Hooks responded to a similar question about what blacks are due from the new president.

"I am not looking for Mr. Carter to deliver black folk. I'm looking for black folk to deliver themselves..."

"What we want is for Mr. Carter to address the issues of this country, which includes unemployment..."

Perhaps the separate nation idea, which was prominent in the recent past, is fading further from our national consciousness. At least, the remarks by Rep. Young and Mr. Hooks seem to indicate such a development.

If this is true, then in my view an eventual solution to the race-oriented trauma of our times is a step nearer.

THANKS ANYWAY, JUDGE

Through the mail comes a note from the Hon. Thomas Giles Kavanagh, chief justice of the Michigan Supreme Court, who won re-election Nov. 2 despite — or because of — a muddled political picture on the court races.

"Please accept my sincere thanks for your support in the recent campaign," Judge Kavanagh writes.

"You and I both know that what occurred... was less a personal triumph for me than a resounding endorsement of the independent judiciary that through your help I was perceived to stand for."

"If you will maintain your interest I am confident that together we can bring about a better method of choosing Supreme Court Justices..."

Well, Your Honor, Sir, I certainly agree that better ways should be found to select supreme court justices, and I have often said so, both verbally and in print in this column.

And I certainly appreciate your taking the time to write me a note, Judge. Thanks a lot.

But I'll have to admit I voted for Joe Swallow for your job. Sorry about that, Your Honor. Maybe you should have your staff check your mailing list, Sir.

The Story of the Revolutionary War in the Old Northwest

By Gordon G. Beld

Hundreds of frontier residents, particularly children, who were taken prisoner by Indians during the Revolutionary War were adopted by their captors. Many others were killed. Jonathan Alder, who was 9 years old when he was taken by Indians in 1782, lived for about 15 years with them in the Ohio Country. His brother Davis was among the less fortunate.

The two boys were hunting for a mare and colt near their home in Wythe County, Virginia, when they encountered a group of Indians. David ran and eluded the braves for a few moments but was soon brought back to the place where other Indians held Jonathan.

"One of them was holding the handle of a spear," Jonathan recalled later, "that he had thrown at him and run into his body. I moved to him and inquired if he was hurt." Jonathan continued, "and he replied that he was. These were the last words that passed between us. At that moment he turned pale and began to sink, and I was hurried on and shortly after saw one of the barbarous wretches coming up with the scalp of my brother in his hand, shaking off the blood."

The Indians also took captive a neighbor of the Alders, a Mrs. Martin, and her child of about 4 years old. As they traveled through what is now the state of Ohio, the child became troublesome and was killed. When the mother cried and screamed, the braves whipped her until she was silent.

As they reached a Mingo village on the Mad River, Jonathan was forced to run the gauntlet between rows of young Indians armed with switches and then was adopted by an Indian family. After about a month of extreme homesickness, during which he would sit each day beneath a large walnut tree near the village and cry for hours, he became accustomed to his new way of life. His new father, a Mingo chief named Succohanos, and his mother, Whinecheoh, were especially understanding and kind. "They shall always be held in most grateful remembrance by me," Alder said.

When he learned the language of his tribe, "he became more content," but for a time he had difficulty adjusting to a new diet and for three or four years was subject "to very severe attacks of fever and ague."

School Activities

Welcome To The Classroom

By Grayling High School Staff

KAREN GEOIT waits on Julie Stephenson and Edith Geoit, regular luncheon customers, at the Viking Inn.

CINDY HELSEL and Judy Gauthier are busy preparing lunch for the Viking Inn.

This is the fifth in a series of articles designed to bring you closer to Grayling High School. Each week this column will focus on a course, program, teacher or other aspect of Grayling High School curriculum. As always, you are invited to visit Grayling High School to observe any programs described in this column or to discuss questions or ideas with school personnel. Please call in advance and check in at the general office when you arrive.

The focus of our attention this week is our Vocational Food Management Program. Food Service is one of the fastest growing industries in the country. A recent survey showed that in 1975, one out of every three Americans ate one out of every three meals in a food service facility. By 1980 the average is expected to increase. Americans will visit restaurants for one out of two meals. According to the National Restaurant Association, almost eight million people are currently employed, full or part time, in institutional or commercial food service operations. Experts predict that there will be an average of 250,000 new positions each year for the next decade in food service.

Grayling High School is doing its part to help meet the demands of this growing industry by offering a class entitled Food Management to junior and senior students. This is a Vocational class offered through the Home Economics Department. The three credit class meets daily for three hours giving some first hand experiences in food service and food management. The class operates a small restaurant called the "Viking Inn". The Viking Inn serves a luncheon menu including entree and grill selections three days a week to students and teachers during the two lunch periods. Students are responsible for planning, purchasing, preparing, and serving meals as well as the operation and maintenance of their restaurant. Each student spends a two week period in each of the eight work stations gaining experience in waitressing, salad preparation, main dish preparation, grill work, dishwashing and dessert preparation.

The class will visit community restaurants, hospitals and other institutional food service operations to gain further insight. Procedures for finding a job, filling out applications and job interviewing are also important aspects of the program.

The Grayling High School Food Management Program is a fully approved state vocational program. The greater percentage of the cost of the program is reimbursed from the State of Michigan Vocational funds. The Viking Inn itself is not in operation as a money making venture but strictly as a training operation. The cost of all meals in the Viking Inn is set at a break even point. Food Management is taught by Karen Dipzinski whose major is in Home Economics and who is fully certified as a Vocational instructor. While this is Mrs. Dipzinski's first year teaching at Grayling High School she has seven years of teaching experience in other districts.

The company I represent insures one out of five persons in the U.S. and Canada. Don't you want to do business with a leader, too?

School Advisory To Meet

The Crawford AuSable School District has formed a citizen's advisory open to all interested citizens. The first meeting was held Wednesday, November 17th, in the High School Library. The next meeting will be held on December 6th at 7:30 p.m., again in the High School Library.

The Advisory Committee has been asked to do a thorough study of school finance, school programs, and school facilities for the purpose of making recommendations to the Board.

Box Tops Needed for School

Attention all Crawford County Residents. Box tops are wanted by the Grayling Elementary School for the purchase of a partially covered slide for the children. The box tops were last seen on Post Cereal Boxes. The knowledge you've done something worthwhile for your children is the only reward and probably the best reward you'll receive for collecting these box tops.

The above picture was taken at the Scrub Board Laundromat which is one of the many locations where the box tops can be deposited. The other boxes are located at the following places: Big Boy Restaurant, Dept. of Social Services, A & P Store, Crawford County Court House, Goodale's Bakery, Grayling State Bank (main branch), in front of the Family Shoe Box and an envelope on the bulletin board at Glen's Market, besides sending them to the school with your children.

I know some parents have been saving only the Post freshness date of the box top, but we need the whole box top. The campaign runs from October 1976 to March 1977.

There are 14,125 Box tops needed so please, everyone pitch in and eat a lot of Post Cereals, not only are they good for you but the more you eat the more box tops we gain.

Frederic Elementary News

The Frederic third grade wrote letters to Mrs. Cason's third grade class in Jesup, Georgia. The third grade class in Jesup, Georgia wrote us first and then we are writing letters back to them. In our letters we wrote about our room, our pets, and families. We're excited about writing letters and sending them in the mail. (Written by Carrie Goudie)

Tentative text and zoning maps may be examined at the Township Office during regular business hours.

Would You Know Him?

What was he really like? We know him as the General of the Army! We revere him as our first President! We honor him as Father of his Country! But let's look on him as just an outstanding man.

And what would he think of us, now that the country he founded is celebrating its two hundredth birthday?

The changes, when you pit them against the vast span of history have been monumental. Would he, could he, join today's club? Or would he merely scowl in disapproval, and turn away?

It would be interesting to find out, fascinating to have known George Washington. And, had we lived when he did, there would have been one place where we surely would have met him.

In church.

U.S. OLYMPIC ARCHERY TEAM—Coach Al Henderson of Phoenix, Arizona was in Grayling recently assisting in the preparation of the Coaching Chapter of Fred Bear's new book on Archery. Photographs illustrating the various points of Henderson's Coaching technique were photographed by Bill McIntosh of Bear Archery with Arlene Rhode of Grayling as the "Student." Under Henderson's tutelage, the U.S. won both the Men's and Women's Gold Medals in Archery in Montreal this past summer.

Kiwanis Club

Fraser Dean, chairman of the "Christmas Kiwanis Newspaper" discussed the setting up of the newspaper and appointed members to sell advertisements. All the ads should be in by November 29th so the paper can be set up and printed in plenty of time to get it on the streets before Christmas.

In charge of the program of the day was Sid Main of the Tawas Kiwanis Club and the Chairman of the Forney Clement Foundation of Division 18 of Michigan. The Forney Clement Foundation supplies background equipment, school supplies, and toys to the C.S. Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor and the Mary Freebend Hospital in Grand Rapids. This project was started by the Kiwanis Clubs of Michigan in 1934.

Bean Fever

by Pete Griffin

I got a phone call one dark September night a couple of years ago just as I was settling down to whittle some duck decoys. It was the Mad Frenchman and he had a problem. It should be explained that the Mad Frenchman is a duck and deer hunting companion of long standing.

"Do you have a Fall Bean catalog?" he asked.

"Sure," I replied. "I'll be right over." Leaving my decoys on the bench, I grabbed the catalog my friend had wanted and as an afterthought took an Orvis and a Herter's catalog. Just in case. The Frenchman clearly had a problem. He was in the grips of an attack of Bean fever. He needed me and he needed my Fall L.L. Bean catalog.

When I arrived, I leaped out of my car and hurried to the shop where my friend did most of his woodworking and shell loading. Rays of light from one of the windows scattered through the dark woods making the well-worn path a bit easier to navigate. I could see him hunched over his work bench scribbling furiously. Looking up he noticed me and waved me in.

It was a cool evening and the warmth from the barrel stove was welcome. I always enjoyed visiting the Frenchman's shop. The aromas of gun oil, fresh cedar, and wood smoke always brought pleasant memories. One wall was covered with muskrat traps and stretching boards. Another wall had shelves filled with cedar duck decoys in various stages of production from square blanks to finished product. And, of course, the floor was covered with sawdust and shavings.

"Good, good," the Frenchman grinned seeing my handful of catalogs. "I needed to order me up some new boots. The old ones have finally had it an' I couldn't find my newest Bean catalog anyplace."

We pulled out an order blank and filled it out and while we were at it we sent for a couple of camouflaged folding stools to make long waits in the duck blind a little easier. Then we ordered some camouflaged netting to cover boat and motor while hunting. Then several plastic shotgun shell boxes. In between bouts of ordering we talked of misty gray dawns and wild rivers, old stories and new plans.

"That reminds me," said the Mad Frenchman. "We'd better order a couple dozen of those hooks from Herter's that the trout were hitting up the Agawa River."

"You bet," I replied. We were off on another bout of ordering.

Late into the evening it continued, chewing the fat, ordering, and arguing the merits of various pieces of equipment. Oh sweet agony, whether to order the thermal socks perfected by Jacques L. Herter during his 1936 elephant hunting trip to Africa or those developed by Mr. L.L. Bean himself during his years of rambling the northwoods of Maine.

Eventually we were finished, backs aching and fingers cramped from filling out order blanks — The Mad Frenchman and I closed up the shop and talked about duck boats on the path down to the house. The orders would be in the mail the next day. The only known way to fight Bean fever is to give in to it. The Mad Frenchman and I have given in to it many times in the past and, no doubt, will continue to do so in the future.
